

Scholar Swap

Rules

Epic Breakfast Productions

Last Edit: 3/15/15 4:40 PM EST

Introduction

We at Epic Breakfast Productions hope that your experience as a user is a positive one. In order to make that happen, you the user need to follow a set of rules in order to let the service run smoothly and in the most positive way possible. By using this service (Scholar Swap), you agree to the following rules that are also incorporated into the EULA for this site (<http://scholar-swap.com/legal.html>), and that not following these rules provides Scholar Swap the discretionary ability to take action including, but not limited to, banning from the site, suspension of account, and contacting the proper authorities.

Overall

Overall, you as the user needs to show consistently three qualities:

1. Serious: The user needs to be serious about utilizing the site and the offers they make and agree to. A user who does not show they are serious about using this site, and does not take the offers and services provided by the site seriously are considered a waste of site resources and could be considered for removal.
2. Respectful: The user respects his fellow users and the offers they make and agree to. There will be no toleration of spamming or derogatory remarks towards an offer owner over any issue or entity. Please be sure to recognize that the site aims to be a serious, safe, and enjoyable service for those who wish to use it.
3. Honest: The user needs to uphold a good sense of honesty. Offering an item and saying it is in better condition than it really is, willing only to trade for less than was originally agreed upon, and providing any other misleading or subversive information is grounds for review and punitive action.

Rules:

This is an outline of the rules you should follow; other rules set throughout the other legal agreements provided on this site also apply and should be considered to be on this list if they are not already here. Please also consider all points made on the safety page on our website a part of the rule set for proper use of this site (<http://scholar-swap.com/safety.html>).

Use:

- Users will be truthful and honest about offers they make and respond to
- There will be no spamming of any kind, including but not limited to:
 - People's offers
 - Offers themselves
- Any kind of abuse against this site or any of its users is strictly prohibited and grounds for immediate banishment

- No user shall make an offer for anything illegal in their area or against the rules of their institution, and it is the user's responsibility for making sure they understand their local laws and regulations regarding what they can transact. Any report of an illegal transactions being facilitated by this site is grounds for immediate banishment or reporting to the appropriate authorities of both the offering party and the agreeing party where applicable.
 - It is also up to the user to lawfully offer age sensitive materials.
- Users should not post their personal information (emails, phone numbers, etc) on their offers
 - This is to protect the privacy of the users
 - It is recommended that the users setup a meeting and time in an appropriate, public place as per the safety guidelines (<http://scholar-swap.com/safety.html>) and not share personal information on the site.
 - We provide a simple, safe messaging service for this reason. Please use it to organize safe meetings.

Please reference the other legal documentation for the use of Scholar Swap for more information on proper use of this site:

EULA: <http://scholar-swap.com/legal.html>

Privacy Statement: <http://scholar-swap.com/privacy.html>

Safety Information: <http://scholar-swap.com/safety.html>